‘You’re supposed to start a story at the beginning, right? The thing is, knowing exactly when that is can be kind of difficult.’

Christopher Edge

The Jamie Drake Equation
‘Lucky dreamed of the stars again last night. He loved the stars and dreamed about them most nights. A million points of silver light, shining in the black. But this dream was different. This time, the stars were calling him.’
I’m wondering what if.

What if the football hadn’t gone over the wall.

What if Hector had never gone looking for it.

What if he hadn’t kept the dark secret to himself.

What if…’

‘When Mary Lennox was sent to Misselthwaite Manor to live with her uncle everybody said she was the most disagreeable-looking child ever seen.’

Francis Hodgson Burnett

The Secret Garden
‘Everybody knows the story of the Three Little Pigs.

Or at least they think they do.

But I'll let you in on a little secret.

Nobody knows the real story, because nobody has ever heard my side of the story.

I'm the Wolf.’

Jon Scieszka

The True Story of the Three Little Pigs
‘On the morning I was scheduled to die, a large barefoot man with a bushy red beard waddled past my house.’

Peter Lerangis

‘Something was upsetting the angels.’
The primroses were over. Toward the edge of the wood where the ground became open and sloped down to an old fence and a brambly ditch beyond, only a few fading patches of pale yellow still showed among the dog's mercury and oak-tree roots. On the other side of the fence, the upper part of the field was full of rabbit holes.

‘It was seven minutes after midnight. The dog was lying on the grass in the middle of the lawn in front of Mrs Shears' house. Its eyes were closed.’

Mark Haddon
The Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night-Time
‘There was once a velveteen rabbit, and in the beginning he was really splendid.’

Margery Williams

Velveteen Rabbit
‘Carrie had often dreamed about coming back. In her dreams she was twelve years old again; short, scratched legs in red socks and scuffed, brown sandals, walking along the narrow, dirt path at the side of the railway line to where it plunged down, off the high ridge, through the Druid’s Grove.’

Nina Bawden
Carrie’s War
‘I live with my family in a city close to the sea. Every summer we used to spend many weekends at the beach. But we never go there anymore, because last year our lives changed forever...’
